

Brownies!

Team Building Activity

➤ Divide group into teams of two or more. Group divider idea: Instruct group to line up shoulder to shoulder in order of birthdays...without them speaking! Tell them (you may speak) where January and December birthdates should stand. When they're done have them call out their birthdates (Jan 4, March 12, etc.) Then have the line fold in half and those opposite each other are team mates. If you'd like four person teams have the team mates select another twosome. Can have odd numbered members of a team.

➤ While group is silently lining up, scatter your props around the room if you haven't done so earlier

➤ Distribute game pieces in bags to each team

➤ At your call, the group will open the bags and match up each Daisy Question with the correct Daisy answer. (Keep one copy of this page intact so YOU know the answers—questions precede answers in a down one column and up to next column) The teams may look in the books and props you provide for reference.

➤ Debrief by one member of each team reading aloud one question and then that person's team mate reading the answer. Go around the room so every team member or every team gets to provide a Q and an A.

➤ Optional prizes for those who finish first or with most correct answers.
